LEAP (Learning Enrichment and Acceleration Program) is aligned with the LifeSpring mission to spiritually and academically equip, challenge, and inspire students to realize their full potential so they come to be faith centered, life-long learners. LEAP provides services to students based on their specific needs. Believing all children can learn and through the support of LEAP, students will grow academically and spiritually and develop a desire and love for learning. LifeSpring's LEAP provides effective differentiated instruction for students in Core subject areas.

Academic Accommodation Plan

Each LEAP student will receive an Academic Accommodation Plan. The Academic Accommodation Plan is based on the evaluations provided by professional psychologists and is specific to each student's needs. Accommodations and modifications are clearly stated on the AAP. Parents and teachers will work together to insure that LEAP supports each learner with best practices to advance the student's academics. Parents and teachers will receive a copy of the student's AAP.

Academic Support Class

This class is offered during the school day and is scheduled at a time that will not interfere with the student's core academics. During this class period, students receive small group instruction; using a program specifically tailored for each student. The Academic Class is designed to advance the student academically, which may include Linda Mood-bell's Visualizing and Verbalizing, Seeing Stars or LIPS phoneme instruction. Through these programs, students will participate in research-validated programs to develop the skills necessary for reading and comprehension.

Classroom Modifications and Accommodations

An accommodation and modification is a differentiated instructional strategy, which enables students to perform within curriculum requirements. Examples of accommodations are:

- Provision of teacher notes/outlines
- Assessing knowledge through projects
- Alternative assessments
- Provision of a peer note-taker
- Additional progress reports (bi-quarterly)
- Extended time on assignments
- Oral testing
- Reduction of homework or class work

Modified Curriculum

Often a modified curriculum will offer the student an opportunity to be successful in core subject areas producing a positive change in student performance and outcome. It also provides teachers with expectations that help meet the needs of the learner. A student working with a modified curriculum will be working at a level. If the Student Support Team feels a modified curriculum is best for the student, parents and team will agree upon direction to be taken for modifications and expectations required of modified curriculum.

- Use of specialized/alternative curriculum
- Alternative reading books at independent reading level
- Use of calculator
- Use of textbook or open notes for formal/informal assessments
- Grading based on work completion

Standardized Testing

A student may receive accommodations during standardized testing. Accommodations may include preferential seating, extended time, small group setting or mark in book.

Push-in LEAP

Staff members offer one-on-one instruction within the regular classroom setting.

Pull-out
